>>COLLABORATIVE ALASKAN NATURESCAPE

Cardboard Painting Class (Ages 12+)

Preregistration required via eventbrite

In this immersive, hands-on class, you'll work on premade cardboard panels that are already sectioned and outlined with the full panoramic design. Each participant claims their favorite part of the breathtaking Alaskan scene—think dramatic snow-capped mountains, swirling northern lights, dense evergreen forests, icy glaciers, rushing rivers, or iconic wildlife like grizzlies, moose, wolves, and soaring eagles. Using acrylic paints, brushes, and your own creative vision, we will create a collaborative naturescape! No prior experience needed—the premade outlines make it approachable, while the large scale and freedom to interpret give plenty of room for personal style and advanced techniques.

At the end, we assemble the individual pieces into one, jaw-dropping collaborative mural—a true celebration of Alaska's wild beauty, created by the whole group!

PREPARING STUDENTS FOR A WORLD OF AI FAKES

In this Brave New world of AI, how do we tell what's true and what's not? How do we prepare our students for a world where faking is going to be MUCH easier? How can we combat "woke" ideology?

Answer: Teach them real history. True history. Give them an appreciation for real history. And the proven best way to do that? Through STORIES!

Stories engage our students' imaginations and interest. Paired with the rest of the facts, they get a well-rounded education on History. Come learn how to do it through Mz. Grundy's stories!

ROOTED BEFORE ROUTINES

Homeschooling can quickly become driven by comparison and busy schedules focused on curriculum, activities, and expectation. Instead, this session invites you to pause, anchor your identity and teaching in Biblical truth, then build from there. Through Biblical encouragement and practical planning strategies, you'll learn how to let your daily rhythms and homeschool structure flow from firmly rooted values.
